1. [redacted] Mary Dooley on the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee staff, Judiciary Committee, called me again this morning to see what I had found out about [redacted] I told her that we were still checking, but had been unable thus far to identify a [redacted] who would fit the description she gave. A few minutes later she called back to say that somewhere along the way Mr. Jay Sourwine's (Chief Counsel of the Subcommittee) message had gotten twisted. She said he had asked that they contact CIO, not CIA. She was embarrassed by the mistake and said to forget the call.

3. [redacted] Jane McMullen of the Senate Appropriations Committee staff said they were having difficulty getting a copy of Jane's Fighting Ships from the Library of Congress, and wondered if the Agency had a copy we could lend to the Committee staff for three or four months. I told her I would check on this and let her know.
